Voice One Celebrates 24th Year Comprehensive Training for a Career in Voice-Over, Film, Commercial, Industrial and Stage.

Are you new to the industry? Do you have a great voice? Do you perform on stage, film or in commercials and want to increase your booking ratio? Need to keep up on the latest industry trends and stay in shape? The Voice One curriculum is a powerful, effective, and comprehensive communication program. We've got voice-over, acting, on-camera and improv classes designed for you!

Voice One is an internationally recognized voice over and acting school. It was started in 1986 by owner/founder, Elaine Clark, author of the best selling voice over training book, There's Money Where Your Mouth Is. Voice One is known for its comprehensive curriculum, expert teaching staff, nurturing care and ability to stretch the actor to his or her full potential in a fun, supportive, and truthful learning environment.

While developing a career in voice overs and stage-film-industrial acting is our primary goal, students constantly comment that techniques learned in our classes help them gain a greater understanding of their voice, body and emotions. These communication skills translate into daily living and enrich their personal and business lives.

In addition to instruction, Voice One also provides audio casting and production services. Awards include an Audie for recording Amy Tan reading her Brilliance Audio book, The Opposite of Fate, and a Gold Award from Brandon Hall for our Knowledge Anywhere web tutorial recordings. Museum audio tour recordings include The Harlem Renaissance [with Delroy Lindo], Maya Stella [with Ysabel Duron] for the DeYoung Museum, The Courtly Art of the Ancient Maya for San Francisco Fine Arts Museums, Bhutan monks for Asian Art Museum, and The Walt Disney Family Museum. We cast and directed the English dubbed versions of two Japanese anime series: Saikano and Jo Jo's Bizarre Adventure. Both DVD sets are currently on the market. Elaine Clark's interview about talent directing can also be seen in Hello Anime! The Insider's Guide to the Success Story of Anime.

At Voice One, we are proud to hire many of our students for jobs cast, produced and/or directed by Ms. Clark. Clients include Viz, Inc., Invision, Definition, Knowledge Anywhere, SEGA, StubHub, SuperTechno Arts, Aperia Global, WalMart, Buder Engel & Friends, Pulse Entertainment, Visual Concepts, Shoot the Moon, BoomVox, Zizzle, CSAA, LeapFrog, AMEnglish.com, Brilliance Audio, Aplia, Inc., AT&T and Verizon phone cards, DeYoung Museum, Acoustiguide, Terrapin Pictures, Infosys, Moxie Method, Freeplay Productions, Juniper Networks and PayPal.

The Voice One studio houses offices, a classroom, recording studio and 35 seat theatre. The theatre is used for Sunday night improv drop-in workshops, scene study and on-camera classes.

Elaine Clark holds a BA in theatre/speech communications, is a certified teacher, working actor, author, playwright, producer, director, casting director, and mentor to many. She directs corporate shows and coaches/facilitates business professionals at Oracle, Salesforce, Genetech, Edwards Lifesciences, Capgemini, SBC, HP, KGO-TV, KSFO, Live 105, KRON, KFRC, ALICE, KNTV, Camico and Netflix. Teamed with NuVeda Learning, Ms. Clark is India's communication guru in her popular communication e-learning modules.

VOICE-OVERS. . . AND A WHOLE LOT MORE!

Voice One is recognized as one of the top voice-over schools in the nation. Over the past 15 years, we've gained a reputation as an outstanding acting, improv and on-camera school, too.

Planning Your Voice-Over Career Training

Stepping Out is the prerequisite for the Commercial and Narration tracks.

Creating Characters is the prerequisite for the Character track.

Each class in the Core Curriculum teaches a very specific technique and may be taken in any order after having completed Stepping Out and Creating Characters.

Daytime Conservatory may be substituted for some evening and weekend core curriculum classes.

We've included a Summer Fast Track for those who want concentrated study in commercials, characters and narration.

ACTING CAREER TRAINING

Acting & Improv

An assortment of acting classes: Scene Study, Monologues, On-Camera Workouts, Taking it To the Next Level and Unlocking Your Emotions. Plus, weekly Sunday night Improv Drop-in Workouts.

Ear Prompter/OCN

Acting training for the lucrative area of corporate industrials and trade shows.

Commercial & Film

Our fun, informative, hands-on on-camera commercial and film classes prepare you for auditions and jobs.

Teleprompter

Be prepared for corporate industrials and presentations by learning how to perform in front of a camera or audience while reading scrolled dialog.

DEMO PRODUCTION

Voice-Over

These are the tools used to get voice-over jobs. Demos are written, directed, recorded and mixed by Elaine Clark in our on-site recording studio. Four demo types include: commercial, narration, character and audio books.

Frequently Asked Questions

1. Where do I start?

Starting Out is where you begin. The intro class is offered 9 times a year. Preregistration is suggested. Simply call, mail, fax or e-mail your payment.

2. What classes should I take next?

The core curriculum classes are the foundation of our voice acting program. Start with Stepping Out for the commercial and narration tracks and Creating Characters for the character track.

3. What if I'm only interested in narration or characters?

Start with the core classes in your area of interest then branch out into continuing education. Everyone should, however, attend the By The Book and Making It M.I.N.E. classes to solidify your voice-over technique.

4. Do I really need to take the By the Book class if I've read Elaine Clark's book, There's Money Where Your Mouth Is?

Absolutely! Elaine uses her 30 years of experience to guide you through the process of trusting the techniques expressed in the book by getting them out of your head and into your body. She'll also share a lot more performance tricks that aren't in the book!

5. How important are the business and marketing classes?

No matter how wildly talented you are, if no one knows you exist or you don't know the business protocol... you'll have a hard time making money. Marketing Wizardry teaches you effective marketing techniques while an agent takes you Behind The Scenes of a talent agency to reveal the do's and don'ts, financial breakdowns, and expectations of talent.

6. What is the advantage of taking the 10-week Daytime Conservatory class over the core curriculum classes?

The Daytime Conservatory is designed for students of all levels who want an overview of the business and are available during the day. Many students take this series in addition to the core curriculum classes. Others augment their learning with private lessons or attend evening or weekend classes in areas where improvement is needed.

7. Should I take private lessons?

Private lessons start at $125/hour and are best used after attending the core curriculum or Daytime Conservatory classes. Personalized lessons are by appointment only. Call or e-mail if you're interested.

8. What does it take to make a demo and when can I have one?

Demos are written, recorded, produced and mixed with music and sound effects by Elaine Clark on an individual basis in our in-house recording studio. Demo production is not considered until a student has completed the core curriculum classes, taken a private lesson to evaluate skill level, or has a current demo that needs updating.

9. I noticed you have scene study, improv and on-camera classes. If I just want to do voice-overs, do I need to take those classes, too?

While some people only want to do voice-overs, talent agents often want to represent you on camera, too. We have classes that prepare you for stage acting, corporate industrials, film and commercials. The options are there to either deepen your acting ability or diversify your acting career.

10. I don't want to act; I just want to do voice-overs.

It's your choice whether you want to be a voice "talent" or a voice "actor." Voice One guides you through the process of becoming an actor so that you're not just talking from the neck up but with your whole body, soul and mind. Whether you expand into other areas of acting or stick with voice-over, you'll learn ways to effectively perform. Come join us!

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

- Voice-Over students should bring a blank CD or mp3 recorder and notebook to class each week.
- "By the Book" students should bring a copy of There's Money Where Your Mouth Is to class each week. (The book is not included in the class fee.) Copies may be purchased through the Voice One website link to Amazon.com, or through major bookstores and websites with drama sections like Books Inc., Borders, and Barnes & Noble.
- Ear Prompter students must come to class each week with a microcassette player or small digital recorder and ear piece. Call the office for suggested models.
- DEMOS: All audio demos are produced on-site with Elaine Clark. Rate starts at $750 for the first track. Each minute of edited material includes music and sound effects.
- PRIVATE LESSONS: Elaine Clark and some instructors are available for private lessons starting at $125/hour. Call or e-mail for an appointment. Private lessons are also available through video Skype.
- Payments are due 10 days prior to class.
- All payments are non-refundable and non-transferable.

Instructors

Elaine Clark is an award-winning actor, director, producer, certified teacher and the author of the quintessential voice-over book, There's Money Where Your Mouth Is, and the owner/founder of Voice One.

Tom Chantler has been making his living with voice-over and on-camera work for more than a decade. He brings humor, versatility and enthusiasm to his gigs as well as the classroom.

Sally Clawson is a Voice One alum who works steadily in voice over, stage and screen. Voice over clients include: McDonalds, Macys, Apple, Saturn, Yahoo, Telltale Games, and Lucas Arts. She offers lively, invigorating and purposeful classes.

Terry McGovern studied acting with Stella Adler & Milton Katselas in L.A., has appeared in numerous sitcoms, episodic TV shows, movies & cartoons including American Graffiti, DuckTales and Mrs. Doubtfire.

Bob Wood's 20+ year career includes hundreds of corporate industrials, both on-camera and VO. He portrayed the lead prosecuting attorney in the "Michael Jackson Trial Reenactment" and Capt. Jason Dahl in Discovery Channel's "The Flight That Fought Back."

Sarah Klihan is a San Francisco casting director for feature films, television, voice-over, and foreign language. As an actor, she has extensive experience performing on stage and in film... locally and in other countries. Her studio is located in North Beach.

Kathy Garver, "Cissy" from the long running CBS TV series Family Affair, brings a wealth of knowledge about voicing toys, narrating books, voice placement, diction exercises, and film looping.

Brady Lea is a performer, playwright, and theatre arts educator. She has performed improv, sketch comedy and vaudeville across the country (and Canada!) and has taught improvisation, physical theatre and clowning throughout the Bay Area. She adds physical comedy to the instruction of her Sunday night improv class.

James Cutts, originally trained as a stage actor, has taught acting, improv, cold reading and auditioning technique for 18 years. He has been a session director at numerous commercial and industrial casting sessions. Plus, he's been cast in dozens of television commercials and many, many industrials.

Marvin Greene has been performing as an actor and musician in the Bay Area since 1987, having worked extensively in theatre, VO, TV, and commercials. For the past 15 years, he's taught acting at ACT, Berkeley Rep and other schools.

John Crane heads up John Crane Films, a full service production company. He studied rhetoric at CAL and has been writing, directing, and producing award winning commercials for over 20 years.

Doug Honorof designs dialects, accents and character voices for stage, screen and VO. As a voice and speech trainer, he lectures and coaches at top institutes including Yale School of Drama and Tisch/NYU.

Ned Lott produced and cast eight Studio Ghibli titles, including "Howl's Moving Castle." Other notable accomplishments include The Chronicles of Narnia: The Lion, The Witch and the Wardrobe, and Prince Caspian plus numerous voice-over and ADR sessions for the Walt Disney Company, Pixar and SquareEnix.

Melissa Gray has voiced promos for NBC, Nickelodeon, Lifetime, Oxygen and Court TV, commercials for Hanes, Dawn, Tylenol, Slimfast, and Vick's VapoRub, and documentaries for the Discovery Channel. She won an Emmy Award for OAB - A Guide For Women with Mary Lou Retton.

Mark Evanier is a TV, comic book, and cartoon writer. Credits include Scooby Doo, Woody Woodpecker, Bugs, Porky, Donald, Dafy, Goofy, and Garfield.

Billie Shepard, veteran actor and teacher, is founder of San Jose Rep's Actors Workshop, the Best of Both Worlds acting workshops and Billie Shepard & Associates. Her career includes TV, film, industrials, commercials, and lead roles in Equity houses throughout the country. Billie is a Dean's Scholar.

Ed Bogas has spent most of his career relating music to words. His body of work includes hundreds of commercials, the music for the Garfield and Peanuts cartoon series (with Desiree Goyette) and a BMI listing of over a thousand songs.

Desiree Goyette, a two time Grammy nominee, has enjoyed a singing and voice-over career for over 20 years. Her list of character voice credits include: Betty Boop, Barbie, Nermal (Garfield's nemesis), Petunia Pig, Honey Bunny and numerous others for radio, television and toys.

Harlan Hogan, based in Chicago, is the author of Tales and Techniques of a VO Actor and The Voice Actor's Guide to Recording at Home... and on The Road. Over the last 30 years he's voiced some very famous slogans: "Kills bugs fast, kills bugs dead" and "The cereal even Mikey Loves."

David Menashe is an actor with a strong background in marketing and technology. He keeps abreast of new and creative ways to reach potential customers (directors, producers and casting agents) and shares these skills in his classes.

Bob Sarlatte is a comedian, radio/TV personality, on-camera and VO actor who continues to "do it all." Over 20 appearances on Letterman, the voice of the 49ers, 5,000+ commercials, cartoons, and movie credits.

Geoff Bolt is a stand up comic, a member of the National Theatre of the Deranged, and Steve Young's side kick in numerous Toyota ads. He uses his dry wit and man on the street interview style to his advantage in commercials and films.

Michael O'Brien is a busy voice-over actor, having voiced Delta Dental, Chevron, Chili's, and Nynex ads. He's also a writer, on-camera performer, and improviser in the National Theatre of the Deranged.

Willow Wray has been an award winning professional vocalist with trio Nicholas, Glover & Wray for over 25 years. She has written and performed children's character animated voices for HBO Film, Sony Entertainment and voiced hundreds of radio and television commercials.

Instructors

Deb Fink has been an actor since 3, working professionally in Theater, Film, TV, and Voice Over for over 20 years. She has coached and taught teenagers and adults represented in New York, Los Angeles, the UK, and the greater Bay Area since 1991.

Gregg Cohen is a casting director for commercial, industrial, and print and runs camera for other casting directors. She understands the client's POV and shares these on-camera auditioning techniques with her students.

Emily Clark began her career as an intern at JE Talent and quickly worked her way up to voice over talent agent. She now coordinates, negotiates and casts talent for Electronic Arts, the video game company.

Cristina Ulloa, a voice talent for over 17 years, is the casting director/talent coordinator for Creativity. Specializing in character voices for toys and games, she has recorded and cast voices for hundreds of companies including Fisher Price, Mattel, and Hasbro.

Brian Burge is the audio talent director at a large talent agency. Prior to that, he was the audio director at The Learning Company. He has a passion for helping actors grow in their craft through intuitive direction and technical mentoring.

Bob Bergen has voiced hundreds of cartoons and video games. He's the current Porky Pig, Tweety Bird, Marvin the Martian, Henry Haawk, Sylvester Jr. and Speedy Gonzales.

Mark Stender used to be a broadcaster, but after his helicopter crashed in the 1990s, voiceover called to him. He studied with Marvin, Tom and Elaine from Voice One, plus The Groundlings and Howard Fine in LA.

Ian Price combines running a successful graphic design and branding practice in London and San Francisco with a career as a voice-over and on-camera actor.

Voice One offers corporate training

Looking for ways to build your business? Voice One offers individual and small group training in Dynamic Speech and Improvisation. Just want to be entertained?
